The children will become aware of the diversity of plants with respect to their habits, habitats and appearance. The children will also learn about the different parts of a plant and how, we as consumers, make use of the different parts of the plant in our diet, our daily living habits and our nutrition. The children will also be made aware of the conditions necessary for growth of plants and how does each factor affect the growth of plants. The children will also gain knowledge about 'photosynthesis' – the process by which plants make their own food.
